LOTUS CLUB.

Manager Bast Tells What Will Be Done in the Way of Improvements.

Meeting has been made of the Lotus club, on several occasions, and learning that the club had possession of quite a large piece of ground at Meyer's lake inquiry was made as to the purpose of the club in the future. President Matthew Bast, of the club, was seen at the club building and interrogated regarding the club's future. "We have made a splendid start," said Mr. Bast, "and next year the club, which has an excellent membership, will have greater facilities than now, though we have done the best we could with the available room. The club was organized June 14, 1897, and on July 30 we obtained our charter. The incorporators are M. Bast, William Class, Geo. H. Piers, Sherman Stockhouse, George Workman, I. E. Shanefelt and James J. Berry. I am president and manager and we have regular meetings of the directors. We will construct, probably this fall yet, certainly the first of next spring, additional buildings and make the club house the best in the state. An architect is now drawing up plans for the gymnasium, which will be 100x60 and will have all the necessary athletic appliances for a first class place. A dancing pavilion will be erected, the floor being 60x90. A theatre is also contemplated, but that will likely be undertaken next year as the club will probably not be able to build a building until the following year. The theatre will have only first class attractions, and no doubt this feature will be a most agreeable one to the club members. We have eight acres of ground leased, and the grounds will be properly laid out with walks, shade trees will be planted and we will have a handsome property. We have been pleased to book as members many prominent citizens of this city and county and the club starts off with very flattering prospects."

TO CURE DYSPEPSIA.

A New Remedy Which Will Do It.

Chronic dyspepsia is considered by many people to be nearly if not quite incurable. No good reason can be given why they think so except that perhaps they have tried various remedies without much, if any benefit. But that progress in every branch of medicine has been such that among other things a lasting cure for indigestion in its chronic form as well as temporary has been discovered and is now placed before the public strictly on its merits as a permanent cure for all stomach troubles or difficulties with the digestive organs.

The new treatment is called Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, being put up in tablet form so as to be easily taken and also preserve its good qualities for an indefinite length of time. This remedy has produced surprising effects in the worst forms of indigestion, and in many cases where ordinary remedies failed to give even relief, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have fully cured.

The splendid results from using this preparation are owing to the fact that it is prepared and intended for Dyspepsia and stomach troubles only. It is not a cure-all like so many advertised remedies, claiming to cure everything under the sun, but it claims that it is a certain cure for Dyspepsia and anyone suffering from any form of indigestion cannot fail to get permanent relief and cure from its use.

It is so prepared and the ingredients are of such a nature that when the tablets are taken into the stomach they digest the food, no matter whether the stomach is in good working order or not. You get sustenance and strength of mind and body by reason of the food being properly digested and at the same time the much abused stomach is allowed to rest and recuperate.

Notwithstanding the great benefits to be derived from Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, the price is but 50 cents for full size package and all druggists sell them.

LABOR SPEECHES

Bryan and Altgeld on "Government by Injunction."

Interesting Extracts from the Famous Orator's Labor Day Speech to a Vast Crowd at St. Louis—Altgeld at Philadelphia.

This bold, honest and patriotic declaration of the Chicago platform worried some narrow and contracted minds very much a year ago. It was branded as "anarchy." It is not being denounced so much this year. Even such Hanna hirelings as General (?) Charles Huckleberry Grosvenor, the weather prophet of the administration, now says some judges have gone too far in the abuse of this dangerous power. "So say we all of us." In its report of the Labor day meetings the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette has the following:

ALTGELD TELLS HIS STORY.

His Labor Day Version of What the Government Should Be.

Ex-Governor John P. Altgeld, of Illinois, addressed an audience of about one thousand people at Washington park, Philadelphia, on the Delaware river, Labor day. His subject was "Municipal and Government Ownership and Government by Injunction." The event which brought the ex-governor here was the Labor day celebration by the United Labor league of that city. President Ernest Kraft occupied the chair and made the opening address. He then introduced Governor Altgeld, who said:

"Aside from the financial question the most serious problem that confronts the people of America today is that of rescuing their cities, their states and the Federal government, including the Federal judiciary, from absolute control of corporate monopoly. How to restore the voice of the citizen in the government of his country, and in the government of those proceedings in some of the higher courts which are a farce and mockery on one side and a criminal usurpation and oppression on the other."

"Corporations that were to be servants, and begged the privilege of supplying the country at large, have become masters."

Mr. Altgeld then plunged into a comparison between the business methods of this country and those of England. He recommended that the government should assume the ownership and control of the railway, the telephone and telegraph systems.

A history of coal strikes and miners' troubles followed, while the speaker dwelt at length upon the subject of court injunctions. He concluded as follows:

"This is Labor day throughout the United States and many beautiful things will be said about the dignity of labor. But I want to say to you that if our government is not rescued from corruption and if the snaky form of government by injunction is not crushed, then it would have been better for your children if they had never been born."

BRYAN TALKS TO LABOR.

Censures What He Terms the "Government by Injunction."

The feature of Labor day celebration in St. Louis was an address by the Hon. W. J. Bryan at Concordia park. The biggest crowd ever seen in the park greeted the speaker. His speech throughout was enthusiastically applauded. Previous to the meeting Mr. Bryan reviewed a parade of 15,000 laboring men.

Mr. Bryan spoke in part as follows: "The labor organization has been one of the most potent influences in improving the condition of the wage-earners. Labor organizations are almost entirely responsible for the fact that skilled labor wages have not fallen as much as prices, although they have not always succeeded in keeping employment up to full time."

"Arbitration of differences between large corporate employers and their employees is one of the political reforms most needed by wage-earners. Until arbitration is secured, to strike is the only weapon within the reach of labor. Laboring people have a special interest just now in securing relief from what is aptly described as 'government by injunction.' The main purpose of the writ of injunction is to avoid trial by jury. Trial by jury is more important to American people today than it ever was before in our nation's history. It was originally intended as a
